

New $100,000 Public School For Minden

The regular meeting of the Anson, Hindon and Minden council was held in the council chamber on Wednesday, September 14, 9.30 a.m., with all members present.

The clerk was asked to write the Dept. of Municipal Affairs asking for approval on the financing of a five room school to be built in Minden at an estimated cost of $100,000. This request replaces a previous application made on February 3, 1960.

The Dept. of Highways is to be requested to erect the following signs on Highway 35 in the Minden area:

"Minden via Prince St."
"Minden via Newcastle St."
"Minden via South Water St." Scotch Line Rd. West."
"Gelert 6 miles" "Brady's Lake 12 miles." The clerk was asked to reply.

In reply to a letter received from Nelson Archer regarding a fire at the municipal dump, the township feels that they are not responsible for damages caused by the fire.

The clerk was asked to write the Dept. of Highways asking that large signs pointing to the Minden business section be erected on Highway 35 as requested last spring.

Accounts were paid amounting to $1,469.18.

The difference between expenses and cash received in the operation of the ambulance service be deposited in the special bank account as of December 31, 1960. This fund is to be used in any year there is a deficit or to purchase new equipment when needed.

The council is to apply for $3,500 to be spent under the winter works scheme; $1,500 to be spent in sidewalk construction and $2,000 on brushing roads.

The council decided to seize the chattels (on lot 18 concession 13, Hindon) of Philip Moigi (a tenant on Crown land) and sell same for taxes in arrears.

The court of revision will be held in the municipal office on Wednesday, October 26, 9 a.m., to hear appeals on the 1960 assessment.

Four street lights are to be installed in Minden; one on the second pole past the last street light on the North Rd; two lights on alternate poles past the last light on Anson St.; one light on the pole nearest the public library.

The clerk was asked to write Mr. L. A. Boucher for approval to purchase a new truck on the 1961 road by-law.

The next council meeting will be held on Wednesday, October 5 unless called earlier by reeve Fred Brooks.

Harcourt Community Hall Officially Open

On Friday evening, September 9, 1960, the ribbon was cut in Harcourt community hall marking another milestone in the progress of this community.

The ceremony began with the chairman, Mr. Harold Herlihey, congratulating all concerned with the building of the hall.

After introducing all of the members of Dysart council and the Harcourt community centre board, Mr. Herlihey then asked the reeve, Mr. Holly Sisson, to speak.

Mr. Sisson's remarks were full of congratulations and enthusiasm for a job well done.

Mr. Harcourt Pacey gave a financial report to date and expressed his thanks to those who had contributed.

Mr. Murray Scott gave an informative talk on the history of the hall from the time the first ratepayer's meeting was called in February 1960 to discuss the need for such a building.

The honor of cutting the ribbon went to Mrs. Jack Scott, the oldest resident, who is 84. She and her husband were both present. Mr. Scott is 88 years old.

Mrs. Scott addressed the audience in a very clear manner, stating her wish for just such a hall for over 60 years.

The large crowd present enjoyed the dancing which followed, the music being supplied by McCauley's orchestra of Apsley, Ont.

An outboard motor, donated by Ernie Warren was won by C. Langford of Highland Grove; a lawn mower donated by Russell Schickler was won by Dayton Stoughton of Bancroft; a toaster was won by George Pacey of Harcourt.

Spot dance prizes were donated by Mr. Harold Kennedy of Harcourt and Don Shaw's pharmacy of Bancroft. Flowers to beautify the stage were donated by Mrs. C. Schwandt, Mrs. W. Gerow, Mrs. J. Davison and Mrs. Edward Mumford.

Everyone had a very enjoyable time and the dancing closed with a step dance by Mr. Archie Sweet who is 74 years old and Mr. Nick Tripp of Bancroft.

Harcourt community hall is now open and everyone is looking forward to years of good entertainment and other activities which will make life more enjoyable for all.

CNIB Campaign To Raise $1,500

How much value do you place on your eyesight? To be honest we do not think that any one of us who are blessed with even fair eyesight could ever begin to measure in dollars and cents what it is worth to be able to see.

In the County of Haliburton we have good citizens who are going through life under a shadow of darkness. Will you and I who are privileged to enjoy this priceless blessing of good vision be willing to help those who are not so fortunate?

We can be thankful that we have people who are giving their time and talents to the task of raising the sum of $1,500 in the county of Haliburton for C.N.I.B. purposes.

It might be well to state here that this money not only is expended to assist the blind but a considerable amount is used in the matter of prevention of blindness.

A meeting of the Haliburton county branch of this worthy organization was held in the United church educational centre on Monday evening, September 19, when plans for the campaign were finalized.

R. J. Curry is campaign chairman, Rev. D. Staples is committee chairman; Mrs. Wanda Orr, treasurer and Mrs. Wm. Emmerson secretary.

Campaign dates are October 1 to 15 when a house to house canvass will be held.

Will you not contribute a little of your money to make things just a little brighter and the load a little lighter for those who are afflicted with blindness? We are sure that you will and this campaign will not only reach its objective, but will go over the top.

Dysart Home And School

The Dysart Home and School association opened a new season on Monday at the high school. Under the able direction of Mrs. George Elstone and a new executive it turned out to be a fine meeting, both interesting and instructive to the good crowd which attended.

After the business session Bradley Watt sang most acceptably and Mr. Max Prentice presented graduation pins to those who had successfully completed their public school education in 1960.

The feature of the evening was a panel discussion on the subject "how can parents best help their children in their home and school work." The panel consisted of Mr. Geo. Alles, as moderator and Mrs. Rex Boice and Dr. H. E. Good on one side, and Mrs. Glassey and Mr. Makowski in putting forth interesting viewpoints of the subject.

A question period followed in which the question of how much home work was "enough" in high school was reviewed. The answers showed that while one and a half to two hours might suffice in grade nine, this would need to be increased each year as the subjects became more difficult and numerous so that by grade 13 as much as five hours per night would be required.

Keeping this in mind, it was evident that high school education requires a high degree of conscientious effort on the part of the pupil who is determined to be successful and the greatest contribution a parent can make is to cultivate the child's desire to learn and, by encouragement and praise, help in maintaining interest and the will to study and achieve. Without this the high demands on the child's time may prove too onerous and his effort may diminish or be lost.

It was a fine meeting in the true spirit of Home and School co-operation and the association is certainly off to a good start on what should be another excellent year for this thriving organization.

Charles Schell Passes On

As we go to press we learn that Charles Schell, a well known citizen of this area passed away this morning. The deceased who was in his 61st year was the beloved husband of the former Ida Sisson.

The late Mr. Schell is resting at the home of his son Mark, in Haliburton.

The funeral service will be held from St. George's church on Saturday, September 22.

Stanhope Council

The following are the minutes of the September meeting of Stanhope council with all members present.

Moved by R. H. Hewitt, seconded by Allan Sisson, that the minutes of the previous meeting be adopted as read. Carried.

Moved by Alex Hewitt, seconded by Allan Sisson, that the correspondence be filed for future reference. Carried.

Moved by Allan Sisson, seconded by R. H. Hewitt, be it resolved that we petition the Dept. of Highways for an interim payment of the statutory grant, under the Highway Improvement Act on the road expenditure made to August 31, 1960. Carried.

Moved by Alex Hewitt, seconded by Wm. Cowen, that we write the Dept. of Highways for approval on the purchase of 15 tons of highway coarse salt at $22.50 per ton delivered, and three tons of calcium chloride at approximately $52 per tone delivered; same to be used for winter control. Carried.

Moved by Alex Hewitt, seconded by R. H. Hewitt, that we would advise the clerk to write the firm of McLaughlin, McCauley, May & Soward replying to their letter of September 13 stating that a search of the records back into the 1920's would be rather expensive and fruitless if they do not want to express more clearly just the cause of the search. Carried.

Moved by Alex Hewitt, seconded by R. H. Hewitt, that the date set for court of revision be October 29 in

Rally Day At United Church

Rally day services in the Haliburton United Church on Sunday morning last saw a large congregation in attendance.

The presence of a large junior choir added much to the occasion. This young choir, under the direction of Betty Barnum and William Gliddon, is a most creditable organization and led the singing during the service in admirable fashion.

The minister's duties on Sunday morning were not as arduous as usual as prayers and responsive readings were led by three members of the Sunday school, namely Lynda Robertson, Heather Inglis and Richard Stinson.

The Rev. George Petrie delivered a most thought-provoking sermon dealing with the place of the church in the community and the responsibility of members in carrying out the work of the church.

Joe Iles Wins Tournament

Joe Iles of Haliburton won the Haliburton Highlands golf tournament with a net score of 62, but in doing so he encountered stiff opposition from two other golf enthusiasts, namely Don Johnston and Bob Packard, who came up with scores of 63 and 64 respectively.

Joe Iles also won this tournament in 1945.

HALIBURTON NEWS LETTER . . .

Fall is here and we note that the forests are commencing to adorn themselves in raiment that is befitting for the occasion. While our autumnal beauty has not begun to reach its height, the colored foliage on the trees surrounding Head Lake presented a beautiful picture mirrored in the calm waters on Wednesday morning.

We are glad to learn that Mrs. Linda Moore is making a satisfactory recovery after undergoing surgery in Peterboro Civic hospital. Mrs. Moore was rushed by ambulance to Peterboro on Sunday morning. Her many friends trust that she will make a speedy recovery.

The training classes for Guides and Brownies will get under way shortly under the direction of Mrs. Kerr of the Salvation Army. Membership in these groups is open to all girls of any denomination. Brownies include girls from eight to 11 years. Girls over that age are eligible for membership in the Guides. Mrs. Kerr is especially anxious to get in touch with girls from eight to 11 years desirous of joining the Brownies.

The building spurt which started locally about two months ago shows no sign of slackening. We note that Mr.

Mervyn Elstone has started construction on a new home which will be situated between the new Baptist church and the home being constructed by Creighton Feir. We might also add that work has started on an addition to the curling rink that will provide space for four sheets of ice when completed.

The Canadian Bible Society will hold their annual meeting in the Haliburton United Church on Tuesday evening, September 27 at 8 o'clock. Interested members of all churches are urged to attend. The general secretary Rev. C. C. Rudd will address the meeting.

THE SNOWDON STORY

Chapter 11

Unlike the original Snowdon, the most lofty mountain in Wales, whose summit rises 10 miles from Carnarvon castle to a height of 3,571 feet above the level of the sea, Snowdon township in Haliburton county, though higher above sea level than most of Ontario, can boast of no towering peaks. However, the scenic shoreline of the Lake of Long and Wind-ing Waters (Kashagawigamog) and Canning Lake compensate for the lack of majestic mountains. The rolling hills cloaked in the tender green of spring or the flamboyant gypsy garb of autumn hold their own special enchantment.

Snowdon Township, which was surveyed in 1858, hosted settlers the following year. William Ritchie took up land in the northern section of the township while Michael Newell, William McElwain and John Sedgwick preferred to try their luck in the "Little Ireland" area (later Gellert) which they reached by traversing the rocky miles of the old Bobcaygeon road as far as it was then chopped out of the wilderness.

Lochlin, known as Egypt until after the advent of the Victoria Railway, was first settled by Eleazar Yerex who came in from the Haliburton road in 1872 by blazing his own trail through the forest. About the same time Albert Vangesen arrived followed by the Clarks and Pockets who traveled the Strickland road which had been built by the Strickland Lumber Co. to provide access for the great square pine timbers to a point below Ritchie's Falls from where they could be floated to the mills via the Burnt River. The falls were named for John Ritchie who had built a homestead there. The Hague family also chose a farm nearby.

The famous Springhill hotel, once operated by Douglas Kellett, which in the early years dispensed hospitality and refreshment to the weary stage passengers and freight teamsters who hauled the supplies for the entire county from Bobcaygeon and Peterboro to Minden and beyond, was built on the "Dutch Line." This locality was named for the nationality of pioneers like the Hellefreunds, the Geezas, the Schradlers, the Schroters and the Sitners. John Francis built a home in this vicinity in 1883.

Ingoldsby, on the shores of Lakt Kashagawigamog, was originally called "German Town." Chiefly an agricultural community, it attracted families like the Bells, Burkes, Connors, Walkers, Dancys and Bakers in the first half decade of the 1860s. They were followed by the Cooks, the Blairs, the Archers and the McKnights.

In 1862 Mr. Francis Peck (a brother of the renowned Samuel Stanley, who also settled first in Snowdon) became the first returning officer for Snowdon district and the Rev. John Vickers was appointed local superintendent of schools and treasurer of school funds.

The Methodist church at Ingoldsby was constructed in 1864 under the leadership of Charles S. Austin and his sons. Services conducted there were attended by families who traveled great distances over the roughest roads and trails for the privilege of hearing once a week the word of God for which they hungered. One cannot help being impressed by the devoutness of these pioneers who, before their own homes were comfortably completed, labored to raise a place for worship. The first school begun voluntarily in 1864 was held in this log church. Classes were ducted by Miss Sarah M. Haight.

The ground for the cemetery opposite the Ingoldsby church was donated by Richard Smith. Here in 1863 the first interment was made when the infant daughter of Melissa and Richard Warren whose funeral cortege was transported from the family homestead by boat, was tearfully consigned to her final resting place.

Tragedy came so often to those early pioneers who seldom were able to raise all their family. It befell Samuel Dancy even before he reached Snowdon township when his eldest daughter, a little girl scarce five years old, was taken ill during the long ocean voyage by sailing ship. In spite of everything her parents and the ship's doctor could do, the child died at sea. Samuel Dancy and his wife could never forget the chill which gripped their hearts as her small body, so lately warmed by the tenderness of a mother's arms, was consigned to the cold waters of the North Atlantic.

Happily Mr. and Mrs. Dancy raised further children. One of their daughters, Catherine Dancy, married William Barnum and settled in the 1870's in Guilford township at the head of Pine Lake. Here she raised five daughters and a son Herbert who still resides on the family homestead. Mrs. Laura Bird of Haliburton recounts a charming story which best illustrates her mother's character.

In the days when broken dishes were not as easily replaced as they are today, Mrs. Catherine Dancy Barnum had a treasured glass water pitcher which she reserved for special occasions. When company was present it was always replenished at the ice cold spring north of the house by one of her elder daughters. For a long time the youngest daughter, Laura, envied them the responsibility of the little ceremony and begged to be entrusted with the task.

Touched by the little girl's persistence, the mother relented and bursting with importance Laura trotted down to the spring where she filled the precious vessel to the brim. Like a queen's lady in waiting bearing the crown jewels for a coronation, she proudly returned to the house.

Alas for good intentions! She tripped on the paving stones by the kitchen door and crash!!! Child and pitcher were blended in a grand melee of broken glass, spring water and tears.

Philosophically Mrs. Barnum surveyed the culprit sobbing amid the ruins of her cherished pitcher. Instead of the expected harsh lecture and spanking she softly quoted a few lines from an old poem "The pitcher that went off to the well is broken at last."

Mrs. Barnum did not realize it at the time perhaps, yet her forbearance had far reaching effects. Remembering that broken pitcher, Mrs. Bird was never after able to punish a child for an accidentally broken dish.

Among the various nationalities who founded homes in Snowdon township were the Swedish family of Lars Anderson, a Lutheran by faith, who emigrated from his home near the Baltic Sea.

There is an extensive Finnish settlement on the southern shore of Canning Lake where the Nordic emigrants from Finland, the land of the shallow lakes and canals live in an old world atmosphere reminiscent of their homeland which Canning Lake is said to resemble. Nearly every home and summer cottage contains an adjoining "sauna" or steam bath house. Some of the houses are still heated by a genuine Finnish furnace which is a specially built fireplace with an enclosing door.

A Quaker, Reuben Caleb Garratt, also settled in Snowdon in 1866. Following the organization of the northern townships he became assessor and tax collector. In later years he moved to Minden where he was appointed county bailiff and caretaker of the county building near which he made his home. Ever a welcome guest at joyous occasions such as christenings and weddings, he was also present when death visited the community. Before plumed hearses and elaborate funerals became the custom, Mr. Garratt acted as honorary undertaker and donated his team and conveyance for the funeral cortege.

Among the most colorful of Snowdon's former residents, one must number at the forefront the versatile Richard Henry Baker who was for 20 years editor of the Minden Echo, auctioneer par excellence, Crown lands agent and justice of the peace. The son of Abner and Elizabeth Baker, Richard Henry was born at Greenbanks on February 21, 1859. At the age of three he moved with his parents to the north shore of Lake Kashagawigamog where the Northern Eagle tourist resort is now located. Later the family settled on the south shore. Baker's first wife, Jemima Eastman, died in 1886; four years later he married Miss Isabelle Gill.

When he purchased the Echo he moved to Minden but after its sale in 1928 he returned to Ingoldsby to become the proprietor of a general store at the Narrows. Richard Henry Baker, known affectionately as R.H., was a man of many pats, Sunday school superintendent for 50 years and the wittiest auctioneer north of Lindsay into the bargain. It was said of him and truly that he was never stuck for an answer. One auction addict picked up a crock he had bid on at one of the sales Baker conducted only to find his new purchase exhibiting a cracked bottom. Outraged, the bilked one appealed to R. H. Baker for justice, "I want my money back," he demanded, "I didn't know it had a crack in it."

"Oh that's all right," quipped Baker, "I didn't charge you for the crack."

The County of Haliburton and posterity are deeply indebted to R. H. Baker for his "History of Haliburton County" published in 1928, also the "Allsaw, Ingoldsby Historical Sketch" published the same year. In these works Baker's love for the highlands glows in every line of his carefully compiled history which has proved such a boon to the seekers after yesterday.

Austin's Narrows where freight was assembled in the early years for transportation up the lake to Haliburton, was named for its first settler, Charles Austin, who with his 13 year old son Wilbert Jackson, built a log cabin there to house his family.

Wilbert Jackson Austin consequently married Miss Marian Upperton of Sussex, England, who in 1863 accompanied her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Luke Upperton to Canada where her two brothers were already living. There is some evidence that Miss Upperton was a school teacher and it may have been in this capacity that she met her future husband. In 1865, after a whirlwind courtship they were married in the infant village of Minden by the Rev. Short, and for many years resided at Ingoldsby. Later they moved to Haliburton where, on January 10, 1915, they celebrated their golden wedding.

Mrs. Austin's hobby was the Haliburton agricultural society (once a thriving institution). At local fairs she often received red ribbons for her flowers and needlework and her specially bred domestic fowl. Ever an outdoor enthusiast, Mrs. Austin took a camping trip to Redstone Lake with her husband and son Fred just a year previous to her death in 1924. At that time no roads had been built to the lake which could be reached only by hiking and paddling over terrain rough enough to test the endurance of the young and athletic. Mrs. Austin, 82 years young, thrived on the ordeal.

A year later death claimed Marian Upperton Austin whose dauntless spirit tamed a hostile environment and cultivated English blossoms where once wild flowers bloomed.

R. H. Baker has preserved for us his impressions of the first agricultural fair to be held in Haliburton village in the late 1860's or early '70's. The exhibits were displayed before James Erskine's blacksmith shop with the ladies' needlework presented to view on a line stretched above a carpenter's work bench, the top of which held two pairs of ox-bows and a complete ox-yoke with wooden bow-keys all constructed by local artisans.

Under the work bench were turnips, potatoes and other garden produce including two fine pumpkins and some corn grown by Mr. David Sawyer of Harburn whom R. H. Baker observes was the uncle of the late Ben Sawyer, one time reeve of Stanhope and warden of the county.

The agricultural fair became an annual event which was transferred from the main street to the fair grounds until the '30's when the event was discontinued due to the lack of agricultural activity in the area.

An excerpt from the "Sketch of Early Settlement in Peterboro" lauds the nine townships' agricultural possibilities. "The soil is rich sandy loam and of its fitness for agricultural purposes, a sufficient proof is afforded by a reference to the report of the Provincial Exhibition in 1865, held at London, C. W., where it will be seen that an assortment of farm produce from the settlers in Dysart obtained a special prize and the grain was particularly commended by the judges. The country is admirably adopted for stock raising and for sheep farming as the clearings increase."

Seventy years later the agricultural fair at Haliburton was discontinued for lack of exhibits. Thus does prophecy fail.

The Austin's who pioneered Austin's Narrows, were buried at Haliburton. Willett Austin (there is no evidence he was a relative) reversed the process by settling at Stewart's Narrows, Haliburton, and being buried at Ingoldsby.

Among the very first to locate at Head Lake in 1863, Willett Austin, born at Picton, July 28, 1825, was distantly related to the founding fathers of the city of Austin, in Texas. A trader in horses and fur, it was the abundance of the later which attracted him to Haliburton county. His wife, Esther Holland, was a sister of James Holland who settled in Dysart before the arrival of the Canadian Land and Emigration Co.

Willett Austin's first home at Stewart's Narrows (where Head Lake flows into Grass Lake) was a log cabin of the most primitive sort. Austin trapped himself and traded with the Indians for fur. One of his granddaughters, Mrs. Garfield Clement of Oshawa, has a picture of Willett Austin in authentic Indian regalia.

When enough pelts were accumulated, they were taken to Peterboro in a flat bottomed boat to be traded for supplies which comprised the boat's load on its return voyage to Haliburton. Esther Austin had the average white woman of the 19th century's horror of Indians. During one of her husband's periodic absences to tend his trap line what she feared most became a reality.

She was removing her freshly baked bread from its pans when an unfamiliar sound behind her made her drop the bread unto the pine table which her husband hadewn for her. Her blood congealed as she turned to face a bronzed Indian who towered above her.

Uttering a guttural "ugh" he marched poker faced to the table, picked up one loaf of warm bread and left the cabin as silently as he had arrived.

Mrs. Austin asscillated between terror and outrage at what she called "the thieving savage!" On his return she soundly berated her husband for exposing her to such an affront. In vain Mr. Austin assured her of the Indians' friendly intentions insisting that Indians always repay obligations. Mrs. Austin continued to scold both husband and Indian.

It was during an extended absence of her husband's that Mrs. Austin learned how wrong she had been about her "thieving Indian." The last venison which was the main staple in the fur traders' family's diet had been cooked for dinner and the father who could provide more was not due home for several days. There were no neighbors near enough to render assistance and the family of small children faced real hunger.

Mrs. Austin was debating what she could feed the children for supper when once again she heard a noise behind her. She turned to face the same impassive Indian, this time bearing a haunch of freshly killed venison which he deposited in the table. He bowed formally and passed through the door into the forests—his obligation discharged.

From that day forward Mrs. Austin never again berated the "thieving Indians" instead she became a militant defender of the people of the forest whose qualities she grew to admire.

Mrs. Garfield Clement remembers a poem composed by her father, Gordon Austin, which describes what befell the family next. She has kindly given permission to quote it here:

"I was born in Haliburton in the year of 1866
And grew up like the other boys full of funny tricks;
My ma sent me to school one day which was against my will
Till I joined the boys and girls asliding down the hill.
My first teacher was Mac-Evoy, I shall ne'er forget his name,
He fleeced me once most awful hard for playing a little game.
I had a chipmunk in a log and stopped to plug the hole

Haliburton Social Notes

Susan Austin of Haliburton spent a week in Toronto visiting her cousins Jimmy and Sparky Ramsay.

FLOYD HALL, JIM ELDER AND DON HALL

Then looking round to my surprise I was the only one out of school. Mac met me at the door, you see, I never shall forget The fleecing that he gave me I think I feel it yet. Pa often took queer notions, and so he said one day 'We're going to North Carolina, thousands of miles away!' To all Ma's tears and arguments he only gave a grunt. We started out one morning down Gull River in a punt."

The rest of the poem is lost. Willett Austin and his family moved to North Carolina in 1878 and for some years Mr. Austin successfully operated a sawmill there. However his American venture ended in financial disaster and in 1883 he returned to his old haunts only to find that fur trading in the Haliburton area was a thing of the past. He then became a carpenter and one of the barns he built on the Gordon Neville farm still stands.

This barn raising, like so many of the day, seems to have had plenty of hard liquor available. One of the workmen thoughtlessly taunted Austin on his consumption of the strong waters. To prove his sobriety Willett Austin climbed to the ridge pole of the barn where he proceeded to stand on his head to the horror of the onlookers below, especially his wife. Not until his son pretended to need assistance could Willett Austin be coaxed from his airy perch. Mr. Austin spent his declining years at Ingoldsby where, after his death at the venerable age of 85, he sleeps in the little cemetery opposite Puffer's Island. Perhaps he has joined some of his friends who were buried there in the happy hunting grounds so beloved by woodsmen and Indians.
